

2026 PIP/CTPAT STATEMENT OF SUPPORT

Polaris Transport Carriers Inc. has been a proud member of the Customs Trade Partnership Against Terrorism (CTPAT) since 2005 and Partners in Protection (PIP) since 2008. These voluntary public-private sector programs, led by U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) are designed to strengthen international supply chain security through cooperation, accountability, and shared responsibility.

As an asset-based less-than-truckload (LTL) carrier operating daily across the U.S.–Canada border, Polaris is deeply committed to strengthening border security and protecting the security of cross-border trade. We actively work to mitigate threats such as drug trafficking, terrorism, human smuggling, money laundering, contraband, and threats to agriculture.

Polaris has developed and maintains a comprehensive, multi-layered security program that aligns with PIP/CTPAT's Minimum Security Criteria (MSC). This program reflects our ongoing dedication to protecting our operations, our partners, and the overall integrity of cross-border trade from any illicit activity.

Security is a shared responsibility across our entire organization and partner network. All Polaris employees and business partners are expected to follow our PIP/CTPAT compliant policies and procedures. We require our vendors, customers, and other business partners to meet equivalent PIP/CTPAT standards, ensuring robust physical, personnel, and cybersecurity practices are in place. These expectations are embedded in our onboarding process, with particular attention to access control, responsible hiring, data protection, and third-party vetting.

Polaris remains fully committed to supporting secure, compliant, and resilient supply chain operations.

Dave Cox, CEO
Polaris Transportation Group